The Value Of Friends

Everyone needs friends; one of the most valuable treasures you will ever have this side of Heaven is a TRUE friend. We have many acquaintances but very few friends. God created us for friendships. It is a basic human need. Dale Carnegie, in his book How To Win Friends and Influence People, says we have three basic needs: (1) Something to believe in, (2) Something to look forward to, and (3) Someone to love. Howard Hughes the Billionaire said, “I would give it all up for one close friend.” There is a principle that defines friendship: The best way to make a friend is to be a friend. Friendship is a risky business. Whenever we open ourselves up to people, we open ourselves up to be hurt. But we also open ourselves up to meaningful and fulfilling relationships. Solomon wrote: “There is a friend that sticks closer than a brother” (Pro. 18:24). In addition, be careful who you select to associate with. There are people in hell and prison because of who they chose to be their friends. Maybe you heard about the two deer hunters who shot a deer on a hunting trip? One of the hunters broke his leg and couldn’t walk. So his buddy said, “I will carry the deer out and get help.” His friends said, “You carried the deer out and left Henry?” He replied, “It was a tough call, but I figured that no one would steal Henry.” We need friends that will carry us home if need be. We need friends that will stick with us no matter what!

God bless, Ray
