I HAVE MY RIGHTS!

This is a well known cry in America today. It is great that the constitution grants us rights for our protection and the right to pursue life, liberty and happiness, but let's face it, many have taken it to a level that damages society and threatens the rights of everyone else.

Paul mentioned some rights as an apostle. The right to eat and drink. The right to take a believing wife (1 Cor. 9:5). He also claimed the right to be paid for his work, but did not claim it or demand it from the Corinthians (1 Cor. 9:6-15). All Christians and American citizens could learn from this principle.

There is another principle. So many citizens proclaim their "rights," but not their "wrongs." If everyone gave as much attention to their "wrongs" (sins), they would spend less time on their rights.

So, two lessons: 1. Enjoy your rights, but don't always demand them. 2. Pause to reflect on your wrongs and make proper spiritual adjustments.
